Clint's program provided the framework for our leaders to retain and attract quality employees. The program provided the foundation from the ground up and allows for sustainability into the future. Both Cheryl and Clint are 'out of the box' thinkers and shared creative ways that challenged the status quo. The results speak for themselves in terms of reducing absenteeism, improving retention, significantly reducing agency spend, boosting morale, and focusing on a team based approach. Most importantly, the program focused on a high level of accountability at both the facility and corporate level. The data and information was disseminated, analyzed and reported on each week which kept the initiative front and center. This has been an invaluable tool in today's competitive market.
